

Completion of 100th Major Surgery by the Department of General Surgery,

AIIMS Bibinagar

Department of General Surgery has completed its 100th major surgery, in addition to 1959 minor surgeries and procedures.

A wide range of major surgical procedures such as parotidectomy, thyroidectomies for both malignant and benign conditions, excision of soft tissue sarcoma, major reconstruction of abdominal wall defects along with abdominoplasties, surgical correction of rare disorders like spigelian hernia, along with all kinds of hernias and lump excisions are performed by the Department of General Surgery at AIIMS Bibinagar.

Our General Surgery team is also looking forward in taking up the first Modified Radical Mastectomy for breast cancer in the near future.

The Surgery Department is committed to rapidly expanding its services and attaining many more milestones to serve millions of people.
